

2023 Lookback

A Record-Breaking Year for Granting

British Columbians donated

$89.8
Million

to communities across the province.

In 2023, we granted a record

$142.6
Million

We provided these funds through grants to

2,486

charities and non-profits

Community advisors decided on how we grant out

$52.8
Million

LEVEL BIPOC Grant Program provided

$23
Million

to invest in the leadership capacity of BIPOC-led organizations in BC.

Recovery and Resiliency Fund

$30 Million to 176 charities
and non-profits

to help recover from the pandemic's effects and build resiliency.

In 2023, community partnerships were at the forefront of our efforts of working towards our new vision of creating healthier, vibrant, equitable, and inclusive communities across B.C.

Partnering with the federal and provincial governments, as well as United Way BC and New Relationship Trust, enabled us to mobilize funding towards supporting the economic resilience of hundreds of organizations, especially those led by and serving equity-deserving communities, that were impacted by the pandemic.

We also celebrated a new provincial commitment of $60 million to continue building on this work in collaboration with B.C. community foundations.

We invited friends, partners, and supporters to ring in our 80th anniversary to celebrate what we've accomplished together and the possibilities of what's to come.

vanouver
foundation